

Your fundraising starts now

We're always on hand to help at events@mentalhealth-uk.org or mentalhealth-uk.org

Introduction

Your fundraising helps us to continue providing advice, information and support to people affected by mental health problems

Mental Health UK brings together the heritage and experience of four charities from across the country who've been supporting people with their mental health for nearly 50 years.

Working UK-wide, we deliver both national and local services that enable and empower people to understand and manage their mental health in a person-centred and empathetic way.

We provide support and services for some of the biggest societal challenges that pose a threat to people's mental health, including money problems, navigating through the system to get the right support, understanding mental health, loneliness and isolation, and resilience in young people.

At Mental Health UK we won't stop until everyone has the tools they need to live their best possible life.

Zoe's story

For a year I have been facing my own struggles with anxiety and depression. Fundraising gave me a new sense of purpose which I had temporarily lost.

I signed up for a half marathon, and although I found training almost impossible throughout, keeping the cause and the charity in mind got me through. I managed to reach my fundraising target whilst training, but this did not stop me organising future events! So far, I have organised two events as well as the half marathon, with another half marathon and another event pending.

Seeing a large group of people coming together to raise awareness and funds for mental health, is a hugely humbling experience. I was extremely proud of myself and my colleagues. Fundraising gave me a focus during the difficult days, and in total I have raised over £1,500 which is incredible. I would encourage others to do this as it is such a rewarding thing to take on, and it also starts a conversation amongst a wide community in regard to mental health!

Make a difference

could help us to write new online resources to support people manage their mental health during the pandemic.

£10

could pay for a call to our advice and information line, supporting someone living with mental illness who may be feeling in distress.

£20

could enable someone to attend a virtual chat session at one of our community support services, providing a continued connection to their community.

£30

could allow us to promote an online support group connecting people who are feeling isolated and may be experiencing mental health problems for the first time.

£50

could help us support someone living with money and mental health problems and provide personalised advice through Mental Health & Money Advice.

Top tips for getting started

There are so many ways to fundraise, find an idea to suit you.

- Keep it simple. The best events are the simplest ones.
- Play to your strengths. If one of your hobbies is sport, set yourself a physical challenge. If you like music, put on a live music event.
- Forward planning. Be realistic with timings and leave plenty of time to organise your event.

- Ask nicely. Try to avoid spending too much money on a venue or merchandise. You'll be amazed how much you can get for free or discounted by asking nicely.
- Friends and family. A great source of support – their ideas and contacts can help open doors for you.
- Keep it fun. The most enjoyable events are the ones that are fun!
- Take your place. Have a look at our website for sporting events we have places in. We would love to have you on #TeamMHUK!

Plan

Now you know what you're doing, it's time to create a plan.

- Work out each step of your event. Use a timeline or calendar and delegate tasks where you can.
- Be prepared. Do you need to do any training or preparation? Plan when you'll do it.
- Consider any issues you may face and how you might deal with them.
- Budget. Keep a log of all the money you're spending and don't be afraid to ask for freebies – some businesses have a charity giving budget.
- Set yourself a target. How much do you want to raise? Tickets or donation asks can be based on this figure.

Setting up your online fundraising page

Supercharge your fundraising

Using an online page to fundraise is quick, easy and means the money you raise goes to the charity automatically. Set yours up at justgiving.com/mental-healthuk

Your unique page can be shared via social media with friends, family and colleagues. Anyone can make a donation to your page, and each one will get you closer to your fundraising target.

Add a profile photo. Fundraisers who do tend to raise around £200 more than people that don't!

Tell your story. Let people know why mental health awareness matters to you.

Add your fundraising target to your page.

Target setters raise up to 46% more!

The screenshot shows a JustGiving page for Emily Pringle. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'JustGiving', 'Menu', and 'Start Fundraising'. A search bar, 'Log In', and 'Sign up' are also visible. The main content area features a large profile photo of Emily Pringle, a fundraising progress bar showing 107% completion (£215.95 raised of a £200 target by 12 supporters), and a 'Donate' button. Below the photo, there's a section for 'Emily's page' with a bio: 'I am rough and I'm running (I -ok rough running) for Mental Health UK because its an amazing cause (and I also need to get fit)'. It lists team members: Jemima, Bryony, Hannah, Johnston and an event: 'Rough Runner, South London 2019, 05 Oct 2019 to 06 Oct 2019'. To the right, there's a logo for 'Mental Health UK' with the tagline 'We help people with mental health problems to have a better life' and 'Charity Registration No. 1170815'. At the bottom, there's a 'Story' section with a thank you message and a 'Supporters' list showing 'Zaza' (£5.00 + £1.25 Gift Aid) and 'Anant' (Anne's cake).

There are more ways than just asking people for donations to reach your fundraising target. You can organise an event! Looking for ideas? Check out what Emily and her team did:

- Hannah used to teach dance so put on 2 dance lessons and a performance at work in return for donations.

- Bryony is a cheese and wine connoisseur – so a cheese and wine evening with her friends was a cynch.

- Emily loves a baking pun so organised a cake morning at work to raise more dough, it proved to be a tasty success!

Times like these

As a result of the pandemic, people are experiencing challenges to their mental health and wellbeing. Although it may feel like life is more or less back to normal, we mustn't ignore the long-term negative effects of Covid-19.

The impact of social isolation, health worries and uncertainty are taking their toll on everyone. Some people may be experiencing mental health problems for the first time and many others who had previously existing conditions are having to cope with exacerbated feelings of anxiety, depression, isolation, and helplessness.

We are hard at work making sure we can provide free support, information and advice for everyone through these challenging times, and in turn we are asking for your support too.

On the next page we present some ways you can fundraise and still be safe, socially distanced where necessary and mindful of people's differing comfort levels.

Move It for Mental Health is the perfect challenge for these times

Join the movement and take on our Move It challenge, wherever you are and however you want to do it. All you need to do is get your body moving and in turn you'll be helping your mind... It's easy!

- 1. Choose your activity. Running, walking, cycling, weightlifting, swimming, squats, stairs (the possibilities are endless!)
- 2. Set the target. E.g. 5k run every other day, 50 squats every day, 100 deadlifts every day, a marathon over a month, Lands End to John O'Groats over a month, 10,000 steps a day.
- 3. Register online and fundraise for Mental Health UK. You can do this as you go so that we can help people affected by mental health problems

Easy ways to donate

Donate your...

Simply fill in the blank and donate whatever you're not currently spending money on. "I am going to donate my... (fill in the blank) funds to Mental Health UK." This could be your weekly coffee fund, commute costs, gym membership, haircut expense or even your usual pub fund!

Birthday

Every day more than 45 million people give birthday wishes on Facebook and now you can create your very own birthday fundraiser at the touch of a button and turn your birthday into something even more meaningful. Find out more here: facebook.com/fundraisers
Have a virtual birthday party and ask your friends and family to donate on your behalf.

Team games

Taskmaster

Assign silly tasks which colleagues or friends can complete in their own time, paying a donation to enter. Then you judge the best task outcome e.g. make an advert for a tea towel, best advert wins.

Dress up day

Since every day is dress down day when working from home, why not have a 'dress up day', where you make a small donation and come into the office in your fanciest clothes or host a fancy-dress themed meeting. Bonus points for top hats, tails, and ballgowns. Download our guide to raffles.

Ask for baby photos from all your colleagues (or maybe just the leadership team!) send round a file with all the photos in and colleagues have a day to make their guesses in exchange for a donation.

Host a quiz

A fun and simple way to encourage everyone to test their general knowledge, while helping raise vital funds. Think of some questions or download a ready-made quiz online (such as quizquizquiz.com), set up a JustGiving page and ask players to donate to enter.

Virtual bingo

Send everyone who enters a bingo board beforehand for a donation, ask them to dial into the video call and you call out numbers, match the numbers to win.

Caption competition

Take some funny photos and hold a competition for the best caption for your snaps, asking all entrants to pay a donation.

Remember why

While you're busy planning your fundraising activity, remember why you're doing it. For everyone affected by poor mental health in need of advice, information and support.

1 in 4 of us has experienced a mental health problem. Mental ill health is more common than cancer or heart disease, yet there is still a huge disparity when it comes to support, equality and treatment. You can help to change this.

Steven's Story

I was diagnosed with anxiety and depression years ago. I was on the road to recovery when I got a letter saying that because my son was turning 5 the income support I was getting would stop. I didn't know what to do, I relied on these payments to live off.

I knew I needed to get financial support as it was seriously affecting my mental health. It just felt like everything came at once, and I had nowhere to turn. I felt as though I had failed as a dad.

I spoke to an advisor on the phone who listened to what was going on and they explained that I should be getting benefits.

They did a welfare benefits check and then helped me to apply for Universal Credit. The advisor gave me advice around the benefits system and arranged a Work Capability Assessment to be done at home. They also booked me a doctor's appointment which meant I could get a doctor's note. I also got a referral to see a psychological wellbeing practitioner.

The journey has been long, but I am now receiving Universal Credit and in a much better financial position. I feel less stressed and my mental health has improved dramatically.

Thanks to the adviser's persistence I now have coping strategies through cognitive behavioural therapy.

I'm now able to leave the house and go to the shops and library. I have even started going to the park with my son for a kick-about, which just wasn't possible before. The impact this has had on my life can't be underestimated.

I know I still have a way to go, but thanks to Mental Health and Money Advice I have improved my confidence and built up skills to better manage my situation. I want to tell my story so that other people can understand that there is help out there.

Important information

There are several important things you need to consider when organising fundraising. We're here to help, if you have any questions email events@mentalhealth-uk.org.

Using the Mental Health UK name, logo and brand

We're happy for you to use our information and logo as it helps more people to learn about us. We ask that you please show us any promotional materials you make with our logo so that we can check it's consistent with our materials. Contact us for instructions with how to use it.

Collections

You will need a certificate of authority from Mental Health UK and to follow our collection guidelines.

You can collect money on private premises as long as you have permission from the owner or manager. For collections being held in a public place you will also need a license from the local authority responsible for the area you are collecting in. We can help you to complete any forms you need.

Licences

You may need a license or permit from either your local authority or through Mental Health UK if any of the following applies to you: holding a public event or collection, a performance event (e.g. music, dance or theatre), selling alcohol, a raffle or tombola, lottery or sweepstake. Download our guide to raffles here

Insurance

Check with us if you aren't sure about insurance. As a volunteer fundraiser you'll be covered for public liability insurance as long as you give us all the details of your event in advance and follow our guidance.

Data protection

You shouldn't share any personal information or data about people who have supported your fundraising with anyone else. This means that you comply with the Data Protection Act. Talk to us about this if you are unsure what this means for you.

Health and safety

- Make sure you think about any health and safety issues which could arise from any fundraising you're doing.
- Follow any professional advice relating to your activity as well as any guidance from the staff working at the venue you are at.
- Make sure to use reputable contractors, that your event is child friendly if relevant, and that you have first aiders if you are opening up the event to the public.
- Take extra care if you are handling food and apply the simple rules of preparation, storage, display and cooking. Go to www.hse.gov.uk and www.food.gov.uk for more health and safety information.

Keep the money secure

Make sure you keep any money you collect securely locked away at all times until you pay it in. After your fundraising is over, make sure all the money is accounted for, recorded and counted in the presence of more than one person.

Gift Aid - Increase your total by up to 25%!

If your sponsors pay Income Tax or Capital Gains Tax the Gift Aid scheme allows us to reclaim tax on those donations. Make sure they tick the Gift Aid box on your sponsorship form at the end of this guide and on your JustGiving page so you can add up to 25% extra to the value of the donation.

Support in kind and matched funding

Local companies might offer their services for free or at a reduced rate. Your place of work may well operate an employee matched funding scheme for charity fundraising, so don't forget to ask about this too!

Thank you!

Without you, we wouldn't be able to do what we do.
